	Batch: 2010	The Computer Science & Engineering Department at NIT Hamirpur, where I graduated in 2010, has come a long way. Back then, it was a solid program, but today, it's a full-fledged center of innovation. The department is now at the forefront of Artificial Intelligence research, keeping pace with the global tech revolution. They've even introduced specialized AI degrees, ensuring students are ready for the future. It's incredible to see how much has changed in just over a decade. Hitesh Kumar Director Technology @ Innoverv Gloval

		highly recommend NIT Hamirpur for anyone aspiring to excel in computer science and build a strong career in tech! Praveen Kumar CSED 09548 (2009-13 Batch)
	Batch: 2020-2024 Branch: DoCSE	Regular classes ensured our basics became strong. Flexibility and weekend offs gave us sufficient time to learn latest technologies, make projects, participate in coding contests and appear for placement interviews. Overall, its beneficial for those students who are self regulating. Vishnu Kumar 20bcs067
	Branch: DoCSE	The DoCSE at NITH is a great place to learn the fundamental and advanced concepts of CSE ranging from programming an Intel 8085 in assembly, learning core DSA, computational theories to developing real world computer applications in modern languages. The department is equipped with capable technological hardware, and the faculty, shortly put, is simply awesome. As I enjoyed my time there, I found that the professors are inspiring, easy to approach and talk to for any course related queries, and willing to help even 4 years after my graduation.

	Branch: DoCSE	As an alumnus of the CSE department at NIT Hamirpur, I am grateful for the strong technical foundation and problem-solving skills I developed during my time there. The faculty's guidance, along with the department's focus on practical learning, played a key role in shaping my career. I truly appreciate the efforts being made to enhance the curriculum and infrastructure, ensuring that students remain industry-ready. Kharanshu Sharma
	Branch: DoCSE	As an alumnus of NIT Hamirpur, I take immense pride in the Computer Science and Engineering (CSE) Department, which stands as a pillar of academic excellence and innovation. The department offers a rigorous curriculum, blending theoretical foundations with practical applications in AI, Machine Learning, Cybersecurity, and Software Development. With state-of-the-art labs, accomplished faculty, and a thriving research culture, it fosters an environment of technical excellence and innovation. The department's strong industry collaborations, coding culture, and active student communities ensure that graduates are well-equipped for top-tier placements and higher studies.

	Batch: 2019-2024	Our institute has a graceful CSE department with updated infrastructure. Faculty members support students in their studies helping them through a gradual learning process. In house computer centre let students have a practical grasp on technical concepts. Conferences and workshops provide students exposure to ongoing research in related fields. Wishing good luck to all members of the department in their future endeavors. Ayush
